1. The Good Samaritan

© Words and music: Lori and John Odhner, based on Luke 10:25-37.
Used by permission.

There came a man down from Jerusalem to Jericho,
And he fell into the hands of wicked thieves.
They stripped him of his clothing, and they wounded him half dead,
And they left him in the road to cry and bleed.

Chorus:

They asked Him, "Master, what shall I do to go to heaven?
What shall I try to? Who shall I serve? Who is my neighbor?
He answered, "Go, and do thou too."

By chance there came a certain priest, who saw the wounded man,
But he passed right by him on the other side.
And then there came a Levite, but he hurried right on by,
When he saw the man and heard the way he cried.

Chorus

And then came a Samaritan who saw the dying man,
And he ran to him and lifted up his head.
He bound up all his wounds, pouring in both oil and wine,
And he took him to a place where he was fed.

Chorus

And then the good Samaritan took care of him all day,
And he went to pay the keeper of the inn.
And he said, "I must be gone awhile, but I will pay you well
If you'll only take most special care of him."

Chorus

© Words and music: Lori and John Odhner; based on Genesis 45:1-15. Used by permission.

Come near to me I pray, for I have much to say.
My tears are happy tears. I've waited many years to see you all again,
And know you as a friend.

Chorus:

I'm Joseph, I'm your brother! We are a family.
I'm Joseph, I'm your brother! Look close and you will see.

My brother Benjamin, to hold you close again!
My father, is he well? Run home to him and tell that I am living here,
And he has naught to fear.

Chorus

So long since I forgave, you sold me as a slave.
There is no need to grieve, and you can all believe the Lord protected me,
To bring prosperity.

3. The Lord in His Righteousness Judges the People

Words based on Psalm 72. Music: "Wilt heden nu treden" by Adrianus Valerius, 1597, arr.

The Lord in His righteousness judges the people,
And He is the help of the needy and poor.
Yea, Him shall they fear through all generations,
As long as the sun and the moon shall endure.

The kings and the nations bring presents before him.
His children are they, and redeemed by His love.
The glory of earth fades dimly as they offer,
And changes to glory of heaven above.

6. Ten Plagues Song

© Words and music: Lori Odhner. Words based on Exodus 7-12. Used by permission.

First all the rivers turned to blood on the Egyptian shores.
Then there were frogs leaping all around, till they cried out for no more.

Chorus:

Moses said, "Please let My people go! We've been in slavery far too long!"
But the Pharaoh answered, "No, no, no, no!"

Soon there were lice crawling ev'rywhere, filling land and skies.
Then there appeared in a swarming cloud the black and biting flies.

Chorus

Soon all the cattle and animals sickened with murrain.
Then there were boils and pestilence, bringing suffering and pain.

Chorus

Soon all the crops were beaten down by the hail and fire.
Then all the masses of locusts came to the Pharaoh's great empire.

Chorus

Soon a great darkness filled the sky, in fear the people cried.
Then came the last plague of Egypt and all the first-born died.

Moses said, "Please let my people go! We've been in slavery far too long!"
And the Pharaoh answered, "Yes, you may go!"

7. Lamp of Our Feet

Words: Bernard Barton, altered. Music: Johann S. Bach, adapted.

Lamp of our feet, our path to light when we incline to stray;
Pillar of fire to lead by night, of cloud to guide by day;
Bread of our souls on which we feed, rich manna from on high;
Our heav'nly chart in which we read of realms beyond the sky.

Word of our God, whose hidden worth no mortal can unseal;
From heaven's Sun the light goes forth its myst'ries to reveal.
Grant us the light and warmth to seek the wisdom it imparts,
And to its holy teaching turn with simple, child-like hearts.

And the waters came tumbling and splashing and crashing and pouring,
Down upon Pharaoh and all Pharaoh's men.

Now the children of Israel followed Moses out of Egypt to be free,
For the Lord meant to save them from their long misery.

Chorus

Well the walls were of water on their right side, on their left side, all around,
But the Lord led them safely through the Red Sea on dry ground.

And then Pharaoh chased them with his horses, and his chariots, and his men,
For he wanted to enslave them back in Egypt once again.

Chorus

For He comes a King in glory, to Jerusalem this day.
Now behold Him in the temple where the throngs of children sing;

Best indeed is He that cometh in the name of Christ the Lord.

O praise the Lord in Song! His wondrous love proclaim!
O praise Him, His wondrous love proclaim!

Words: Placide Clappeau, 1847; tr. John S. Dwight. Music: Adolphe C. Adam (1803-1856)

O holy night! The stars are brightly shining
It is the night of our dear Savior's birth.
Long lay the world in sin and error pining
Till He appeared and the soul felt its worth.
A thrill of hope, the weary world rejoices
For yonder breaks a new and glorious morn.
Fall on your knees! O hear the angel voices!
O night divine, O night when Christ was born.
O night divine, O night, O night divine!

Led by the light of faith serenely beaming
With glowing hearts by His cradle we stand.
So led by light of a star sweetly gleaming
Here came the wise men from Orient land.
A King of Kings lay thus in lowly manger
In all our trials born to be our friend
He knows our need! Our weakness is no stranger.
Behold your King! Before Him lowly bend!
Behold your King! Before Him lowly bend!

keyboard: Sarah Odhner

Bread of heaven, bread of heaven feed me now and evermore,
Feed me now and evermore.

Open, Lord, the crystal fountain, whence the living waters flow;
Let the fi'ry, cloudy pillar guide me all my journey thro'.
Strong Deliv'rer, Strong Deliv'rer, be Thou still my strength and shield,
Be Thou still my strength and shield.

When I tread the verge of Jordan, bid my anxious fears subside;
Bear me through the swelling current, land me safe on Canaan's side.
Songs of praises, songs of praises I will ever give to Thee,
I will ever give to Thee.

He will put to flight the armies of night, that the sons of day may greet Him,

Who like Thyself my guide and stay can be?
Through cloud and sunshine, Lord, abide with me.

Heav'ns morning breaks, and earth's vain shadows flee.
In life, in death, O Lord, abide with me.
